Microworld releases eScan 10 - Beta

Antivirus and content security solution provider, Microworld, has released Beta version of eScan 10.

The Beta version features inbuilt advanced firewall that prevents systems from network-based attacks. It provides protection against viruses, worms, trojans, spyware and offers email protection, internet download protection, and protection while chatting, according to a company press release.

Govind Rammurthy, CEO & MD, Microworld commented, "eScan 10 includes a range of technical advancements which substantially enhance the product's functionality and scanning rate. It also comes with improved user friendly interface suitable for users with varied level of technical knowledge."

Microworld claims that eScan 10-Beta's file monitoring, advanced and heuristic scanning are more intelligent and faster than other available products. Its other features include user friendly GUI, parental control, internet patrolling, anti-spam, and anti-phishing.

The Beta version can be downloaded from <<http://www.mwti.net/feedback/betaversion.asp>>. The vendor has also announced prizes for active Beta testers.
