The VB100% award is designed to test a product's capabilities to detect all current in-the-wild threats on the platform under test, with no false positives detected and to scan the speed of the product under test. eScan Version 10 withstood the rigorous testing methodologies of VB100% and had a 100 per cent detection record in all malware categories with no false positives.

Speaking on the occasion, Govind Rammurthy, managing director and chief executive officer, MicroWorld, said, "At MicroWorld, our products are specially designed keeping in mind the security requirements of our customers. By winning this prestigious certification for the 17th time, eScan Version 10 has proved the consistency of our product excellence, thereby, creating a new level of perfection for the industry to follow."
