eScan Receives Advanced CheckVir Certification

[29/06/2004]

Two of MicroWorld Technology's products, eScan 2003 Corporate Edition and eScan 2003 Internet Security Suite, were presented with an Advanced CheckVir certification by the CheckVir project in May this year.

The CheckVir project is an independent analysis company, which tests anti-virus products and rates them according to how well they protect against viruses and inappropriate or unsolicited materials. Criteria to qualify for the Advanced certificate are that the products being tested can not only search for and find all viruses pitted against them. The products must also destroy the virus completely and restoring an infected system to its original state. Both on-access and on-demand scanning capabilities are thoroughly examined.

All of MicroWorld Technology's products feature real time protection as early detection and prompt disinfection is imperative to good anti-virus products.

eScan 2003 Corporate Edition and eScan 2003 Internet Security Suite were tested on a computer running Windows Me and out of the 205 samples against which it was pitted, it was able to identify and disinfect, on access and on demand every single one.

The only other anti-virus product, out of the fourteen tested in May, to receive the Advanced CheckVir certification was Trend Micro's PC-cillin Internet Security.
